

Sierra Randolph

I am a multi-faceted artist with one goal in mind: to bring fantastic design to as broad an audience as I can muster. I have been designing, illustrating, programming, and creating since I was eight years old. I want to always be learning new things in order to better my work and energetically help those around me. I'm looking for my next artistic challenge, and I want to join a really passionate team!

employment

Production Media Company • August 2015–October 2016

I was employed by PMC shortly after graduating from college, and I have learned a lot about marketing and customer communication! I frequently assisted the art director in special projects, including a website redesign and the creation of a brand-new marketing division for the company. I am ready to begin my next adventure and really challenge myself!

Purpley Goodness • September 2004–present

I have been a freelancer ever since I was eight years old. I was bored one summer day and decided to teach myself HTML. The rest is history, and I love being able to provide both a functional structure and a pleasing design for the various projects I've been able to do over the years.

Portland State University's QRC • October 2014–June 2015

While in college, I was offered an internship with the QRC after doing an interview for a different position. I worked with the marketing group to put various events together as well as their upcoming 10th Anniversary.

Schnibbity Gifts, LLC • September 2004–January 2014

My family owned a small business in my hometown, and I was given the chance while growing up to help out. In turn, I learned early on how to manage, how to handle money, how to advertise, and how to talk to people.

B.S. in University Honors and Art Practices • June 2015

I joined Alpha Kappa Psi in 2012 and subsequently improved our marketing to focus on all majors and genders, rather than just men in the School of Business. My senior thesis focused on transformation and was used to help redesign the senior thesis program to better accommodate creative-based work as opposed to just those who write papers for their theses.

interests

I am an avid reader and PC gamer. I also enjoy creating stories using programs like Twine (to explore different story paths), Ren'Py (to work with interactivity), Scrivener (to organize all of my world-building), and Aeon Timeline (to make sense of the events and figures in my stories). Also, I am a massive fan of animation and eagerly engage in discourse about my favorite shows when new episodes or content are released!
